POSSE RETAKES SING SING PAIR

Man Hunt in New Hampshire
Mountains Ends in Capture of Stivers and Bassett

TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Tired and Hungry, Fugitives Were Resting Under Tree by Roadside When Discovered

Warner, N. H., Oct. 22. — A man hunt on the heavily wooded southern foothills of Kearsarge mountains ended today in the capture of George Stivers and Marcus Bassett, who escaped from Sing Sing prison at Ossining, N. Y. last Saturday night. The men, tired and hungry, were surprised while eating apples under a tree by the roadside and surrendered without resistance. They readily admitted their identity and tonight were on their way back to the prison in custody of Warden Lewis F. Lawes and three prison keepers.

The hunt started when the two men were seen to jump from a stolen automobile here yesterday and run into the woods. Sheriff George A. Wooster was notified and within a short time a posse of deputies and citizens was formed. Throughout yesterday, last night and today, the posse was constantly augmented by residents of Warner and adjacent towns. Many brought rifles, shot guns or revolvers, while some of the farmers were armed with pitchforks, clubs or axes.

Spent Night Seeking Escape.

Once, early last evening, the men were seen at the edge of the woods. Shots promptly fired in their direction sent them scurrying back to shelter. A little while later, they ventured out of the forest, unobserved in the darkness and sought food at two farm houses. The occupants, thinking they were tramps, refused to give them anything to eat and they dodged back into the woods.

For the rest of the night Stivers and Bassett kept out of sight. They admitted after their capture today that they had spent the night seeking an outlet of escape, but being unfamiliar with the woods, they had wandered about in a circle and at daylight found themselves near where they had started. They had no sleep and no food.

Warden Lawes and his keepers, who had hurried here on receiving word that the men were cornered, joined Sheriff Wooster during the night. At Cambridge, members of the posse were stung out along the border of the woods for a distance of 10 miles, and others were sent into the forest in a systematic fashion. They sent round after round of shots in every direction.

As it developed afterwards, this method was successful in gradually forcing the fugitives toward the outer edge of the forest. They were not seen, however, until this afternoon.

Surrender Without Resistance.

Sheriff Wooster sent two men, Edward L. Forsyth and Carl W. Rowe, to a point on the road near a house on Turkey hill. They had not been stung there 10 minutes before they caught sight of two men lying under an apple tree close to the road and munching apples. Creeping along a stone wall, Forsyth and Rowe got close to the men without being seen. Then they straightened up. The men, thinking they were hunters, asked them the way to Bradford, an adjoining town. For answer, Forsyth and Rowe pointed their rifles at the men and ordered them to surrender.

Taken by surprise, the men threw their hands and in a few minutes they were bound hand and foot. They admitted they were the escaped convicts. Rowe stood guard while Forsyth went to the nearest house and telephoned the sheriff. Shortly afterwards, Sheriff Wooster and Warden Lawes arrived and the warden at once identified the men.

After the posse had been dispersed, the convicts were taken to Concord, N. H., where they were to be returned to Sing Sing by train.

Talk Freely of Flight.

Stivers and Bassett talked freely after their capture. They said that their first move after escaping from the prison was to steal an automobile. They drove at top speed for the state line and into Connecticut. At Derby, Conn., they held up a man in a car and stole his overcoat and a number plate of the car which they attached to the automobile they were driving.

With the idea in mind of eventually reaching Canada, they drove back and forth over Connecticut roads during Friday and Monday, hoping to throw the cops off their trail. On Tuesday, they dashed into western Massachusetts and managed to find their way to Springfield and Worcester, then drove northward into New Hampshire.

In Concord they stole another automobile. Stivers and Bassett drove off, followed by Stivers in the first car. They returned to Henniker and tried to rob a lunch room proprietor, firing one shot at him, but were frightened away by the arrival of armed neighbors. A short distance from the village they abandoned the car in which they had

RAIL MEN CONTROL STRIKE SITUATION

Other Organizations Governing Attitude Toward English Miners by Railway Developments

(By The Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 22. — The strike situation tonight was considered more hopeful by the fact that the peace conversations between the government and the miners' leaders are continuing unbroken. There were no new developments, however.

At a joint conference tomorrow between the railway men and the miners, it is expected that the suggestion will be made that the railmen postpone their strike set for Sunday night, should there be no agreement between the government and the miners by Saturday night after the Wednesday trade union conference.

The greatest anxiety exists among Londoners for if the rail strike becomes effective Sunday night, the underground tube railways will cease working. It is possible, also, that the trams and buses, whose drivers are members of the Transport Workers' union, will suspend operations. The bus and tram drivers, however, have expressed themselves as reluctant to join the movement. There is division among the railroad men with regard to a strike, a large section of them opposing it. J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railway Men, has authorized the statement that he is against the strike.

Berlin, Oct. 22. — The Vorwarts, the Socialist organ, in one of its issues today asserted that the British coal miners had applied to the miners' international for assistance. In a later edition, however, the newspaper made a correction of this, declaring that no appeal had been made.

MACSWINEY'S END IS NEAR REPORTS LONDON AGENCY

London, Oct. 22. — The Exchange Telegram announces that it has been informed that Lord Mayor MacSwiney is at the point of death.

London, Oct. 22. — Mayor MacSwiney, says the night bulletin of the Irish Self-Determination league, had a violent, but short attack of delirium this evening, after which he slept. Mrs. MacSwiney was with him all day but was not recognized.

New York, Oct. 22. — Frederick A. Juillard of New York city, and George Eastman of Rochester have been elected directors of the Metropolitan Opera company. It was announced tonight.

entered the state and proceeded in the stolen Concord automobile. On Wednesday morning their gasoline gave out and they procured a small quantity in Warner. When this was used up they abandoned the car and seeing men approaching realized they were being pursued and took to the woods.

The identity of the men was first definitely established when Warden Lewis showed photographs of Stivers and Bassett and was told they answered the description of men seen in the vicinity. Stivers had an automatic revolver containing three cartridges and the two men were found to have about 20 more cartridges.

Tell of Amusing Incidents.

Warden Lawes said the reward of $250 each offered for the capture of the convicts would be paid to Forsyth and Rowe.

Bassett and Stivers said their escape, which was accomplished by striking down three guards, was the idea of a moment of opportunity. The procedure was no new one for Bassett, however, as Warden Lawes said in his hearing that "he has left me three times before." Bassett had only 62 days of a 36-month term for larceny to serve. Stivers was a "long term" under sentence of 20 years for killing a policeman.

They laughed as they told of an incident soon after their escape. The gasoline tank in the car with which they fled from Ossining ran dry at Fort Chester, N. Y., and the convicts stopped on the road to replenish from a station. A policeman had given them a station. A policeman had given them a station. A policeman had given them a station.

After his arrival here late in the morning on the special train which carried him on his excursion into New York state, he looked in at his office for only a short while and then left for a 40-mile motor ride to Manchester and a game of golf.

It was the first time in several weeks that he had taken so complete a rest from the cares of the campaign. Although he appeared in perfect health, the strain of his speaking trip had left him tired and he said he wanted to refresh himself with some wholesome physical exercise before taking up the home stretch of the campaign.

Tomorrow the nominee will begin the preparation of his final campaign utterances to be delivered on the last four nights of next week at meetings at Cleveland, Akron, Cincinnati and Columbus.

Evidence Shows Player Approached Abe Attell Asking if He Could Place $100,000 in Bets

BURNS A GO-BETWEEN

Work of Former Pitcher Was Primarily to Superintend Placing of Bets, It Is Said

Chicago, Oct. 22. — The Cook county grand jury investigating the baseball scandal today voted three bills against Hal Chase, former major league player, expelled for alleged gambling; Abe Attell, former featherweight boxing champion, and Bill Burns, former major league pitcher.

The jury also again voted indictments against the eight Chicago American league players accused of throwing games in the 1915 world series. This was done to overcome legal technicalities believed to have been violated in voting the indictments previously.

An official of the state attorney's office said that the indictments were voted after testimony had been given by the jury that Chase was the "real fixer" of the 1915 world series. Chase was said to have approached Attell, asking him if he could place $100,000 in bets, and also if he could raise money from the scheme. Attell is then said to have approached a New York gambler whose name has been given to the jury, officials said.

According to testimony presented, at least several hundred thousand dollars was bet and won on the world series. Chase was the first man to suggest "throwing" the series, it was said, and called in the others to help him. Harry Long, a Chicagoan, told the jury he alone placed $75,000 in bets on Cincinnati for "Sport" Sullivan of Boston. Testimony has been received concerning many other large bets, it was said.

Beside Chase, Attell and Burns, today's indictments covered two alleged gamblers, Sullivan and a man known to the jury only as Brown, and the eight players owned by the Chicago American league club, against whom true bills previously had been voted.

Officials of the state attorney's office today said testimony had been given that Chase, who was expelled from the major league and barred from the league parks in the west for alleged gambling, was one of the chief instigators of the game selling. This testimony was said to show that Chase approached Abe Attell before the 1915 world series and asked him if he could place large sums in bets. Attell was said to have gone to a New York gambler who was mentioned in connection with the jury investigation and also to have approached "Sport" Sullivan on the proposition, Chase, according to the testimony, also was said to have approached Sullivan, telephoning him from the room in New York occupied by Gene Debus, former Detroit pitcher.

Through the activities of Chase and Attell, the officials said the testimony indicated the deal which "threw" the world series and wrecked the championship Chicago club was arranged.

Burns, former pitcher for the Chicago Americans, Cincinnati and Philadelphia Nationals, was brought into the deal by Chase, it was said. His work, according to state officials, being primarily to superintend the placing of the bets.

HARDING PREPARES FOR FINAL DRIVE

Enjoys Day's Rest Before Drafting Speeches He Will Deliver in Ohio Next Week

Marion, O., Oct. 22. — The last of his campaign swings outside Ohio completed, Senator Harding took a real holiday before starting work on the theory of speeches he will deliver next week in principal cities of his own state.

EXPECT REAL TESTS ON GRIDIRON TODAY

Princeton-Naval Academy Clash
Stands Out Conspicuously
Among Day's Battles

New York, Oct. 22. — Gridiron battles second in importance only to the colorful contests of late November in their relation to the standings and prestige of contending elevens are being waged on many eastern college fields tomorrow afternoon.

One of the most important battles of the day is the clash between Princeton and the Naval academy at Princeton. It is the first meeting this fall of the two perennially great teams of the east.

Princeton's record for the early days is the most impressive, while that of the Navy is blotted with a defeat. The civilian team was a favorite today but the Navy with a strengthened roster had ardent backing.

Harvard has at Cambridge as its opponent the Center college eleven which has followed up its famous march of triumph last year.

Center college travels to Cambridge encouraged with a remarkable early season record, and a faith in the dashy attack that had bowled over one opponent after another. Against this year's offensive Harvard is said to have ready a sturdy, unflinching defense.

Georgia Tech tackles Pittsburgh, while Virginia Military academy visits Pennsylvania's gridiron.

Cornell faces Colgate confident of victory. Last year Colgate drew several strong teams for a loss, including Cornell, but graduation of many stars has left behind a team that so far has not encouraged Colgate partisans.

Tufts engages the Army, and Syracuse goes to Hanover to do battle with Dartmouth. Other tilts of the day include Springfield's game with Brown, Wesleyan against Columbia, Union and Amherst, and Lebanon on Penn State's terrain.

Stung by last Saturday's setback at the hands of Boston college, the Yale squad is expected to show an improvement in form against West Virginia at New Haven.

Many Important Developments

During the legislative committee's session today, Samuel Untermyer, committee counsel, examined several witnesses regarding the activities of the alleged labor contractor combination, which he asserted was stifling construction work in New York city.

Important developments were:

Refusal of Robert T. Brindell, president of the Building Trades council, to take advantage of the opportunity given him by the committee to refuse testimony of Ephraim Levy and George Backer regarding a bribe of $25,000 paid to alleged labor representatives to call off a strike.

Assertion of Mr. Untermyer that a widespread system of extortion was being practiced by unscrupulous labor leaders to obtain vast sums of money from employers under protest or actually calling strikes.

Admissions by one witness that he feared his business would be ruined by withdrawal of labor if he answered all questions addressed to him concerning the alleged labor contractor combination.

Testimony to the effect that upward of 400 plumbing contractors in New York submitted the proposed bids for plumbing work to a central clearing house under the "code of practice" before they were offered to a prospective client.

One Dramatic Moment.

A dramatic moment came when Milton Schmaier, a plumbing contractor, pleaded on the witness stand with committee counsel not to continue questions which he said would imperil his million dollars' worth of business.

Schmaier made this appeal after testifying that he had subscribed under pressure to the code of practice of the plumbing contractors. This organization, he said, consisted of 400 contractors of the "8th street association" who sent their bids to John Dietrich, a lawyer, who is alleged to have operated the "code."

"To what extent were you not a free agent?" asked Mr. Untermyer. "You brought it out yourself, here with Mr. Brindell" replied the witness.

"Oh, you mean that if you did not belong to that association, even though you were a union shop, Mr. Brindell would pull off his men, is that it?"

Mr. Untermyer, you don't want me to have my doors closed with a million dollars' worth of business by answering you these questions?"

"No, but we will close Mr. Brindell's doors."

"Then there will be somebody else to step into Mr. Brindell's place, the same as he is the successor to Sam Parks."

Pleads for Mercy.

"I have all I have in this world at stake," protested Mr. Schmaier, adding, "you are not going to sacrifice me in the breaking of it up."

"Well, I am going to sacrifice all the people in it if necessary," replied Mr. Untermyer.

"I will answer you truthfully, but I ask in all fairness as man to man not to sacrifice me on the altar."

When the witness said he was "glad to see this thing through," Untermyer asked:

"But you don't want to be sacrificed on the altar of righteousness, is that it, in breaking it up. As I understand it, it is this—that if you are a union shop and obey union regulations as to the hours and wages and

Witnesses Fear Admission of Facts to Investigators Will React on Their Business Ventures

New York, Oct. 22. — (By The Associated Press.) — New York is ready to suspend all public work until it is learned if there was "open competition" in bidding for the work.

This announcement was made here late today by Mayor Hylan when the joint legislative committee adjourned until November 4, after its counsel had asserted it had only scratched the surface in its investigation of the "building trust."

Developments in the building situation came in a dramatic fashion this afternoon, after Mayor Hylan had addressed the board of estimate, declaring that the "building trust, the mill trust, and the other trusts have built a wall about Greater New York greater than the great wall of China."

While the legislative committee was quizzing witnesses in one chamber in the city hall, the board of estimate, meeting in another, rescinded four contracts involving approximately $7,000,000 worth of work on New York county's proposed court house. The Mayor also authorized Commissioner of Accounts Hirschfeld to make searching investigations of all contracts for school houses.

"I want the people to know that they will be protected against men who are seeking by means of combinations and unfair practices to mulct the people," explained the Mayor.

URGES THAT WALKER BE SENT TO SENATE

Franklin D. Roosevelt, in Binghamton Address, Likewise, Pleads
For Re-Election of Gov. Smith

Binghamton, Oct. 22.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic vice presidential nominee, in an address here tonight, which closed a day's campaigning through the southern tier counties of the state, pleaded for the re-election of Governor Smith and the election of Lieutenant Governor Harry C. Walker of this city, as United States senator. It was his first lengthy, direct plea for local candidates in this campaign.

"Very much of the same principles are at stake in the New York state election," he said, "as in the national election. The people must decide between reactionary and progressive candidates. For those who wished a change, a splendid opportunity is presented to send Senator Wadsworth out of the senate and back into his own home and replace him with the progressive Lieutenant Governor of this state."

"I have found thousands of men and women in the western part of the state who are normally Republicans. They resent the constant and consistent opposition of Senator Wadsworth, not merely to woman suffrage, but to every other variety of measures intended to improve our government and the conditions surrounding the life of the average American citizen. Mr. Walker's position in his own community and his official acts have proved not only his high ability, but also his independence of control by narrow, selfish and backward looking groups."

PALMETTO. The Romance of a Louisiana Girl. By STELLA G. S. PERKINS.

A love story, a mystery and a romance—these are the titles of a modern romance in disguise, set largely in the bayou region of Louisiana, against a background of strange legends, shimmering phantasies, and dark waters.

Palmetto is a beautiful, abused little girl of the bayou, first glimpsed as a slender child, woman, poised on the brink of life, facing the dangers of a bayou life. Many men see in her many things, but she is an artist as well as a dragon, making herself a life-saver in a purple haze, giving joy to the eye, a reader, reading deeper, glimpses the wonder of her dominant soul, and content to wait.

Palmetto knows instinctively that her self-sufficiency, her hidden half-mad poet, and his vindictive, unscrupulous wife, are all in her. With a young man, she makes a mad dash for freedom. The scene shifts to New Orleans, to New York. From there starts the dramatic solution of the mystery, the unfolding of the romance, the journey of a life, the nature of the problem of plain, straight-hearted men and women.

A tale that from opening paragraph to closing line, is replete of that fine spirit of romance which carries honest conviction, a love story, beautifully told, in which the heart of a young girl is frankly revealed. 21.90.

BABE WINS OWN GAME

Fails to Get Homer but Turns Up E-J at Johnson City, 3 to 1.

Babe Ruth, king of swat, failed to get the home run that fans think ought to go with every one of his exhibition games, but nevertheless won the game for his team, in the battle between Babe Ruth's Stars and the E. J. A. nine at Johnson Field yesterday afternoon. The final score was 3 to 1, and the game went ten innings.

Ruth's team brought in the first run of the game in the sixth inning, but the Johnson City bunch came back without delay and tied the score in their half of the same round. This 1-1 tie continued unbroken until the tenth, neither side seeming able to break the spell. In the tenth, however, Ruth got hold of one of Weingartner's offerings and pounded it out for a near home run. Although "only" a three-bagger, it gave the fans an idea of Babe's swatting power, and it won the game, bringing in the two men who were on bases. Despite Babe's wife's fame, there was only a crowd of 2,500 people at the game, a smaller number than saw him at Oneonta a week ago.

The score by innings follows:

E. J. A. 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—10 1

Batteries—Mays, Ruth and Hoffman; Weingartner and Fisher.

HARTWICK SEM. WINS

Olympics, Local Squad, Play Fast, but Lose Out by Single Tally.

"The Olympics," a fast local amateur basketball squad, journeyed to Hartwick Seminary last night and went up against the varsity team of the "sem." Although they were defeated, 22 to 21, they gave the Seminary boys one of the hardest battles they had fought in many a day, and at one time it looked like victory for the Oneontans.

At the end of the first half, the score was 5 to 7 in favor of the seminary, and all the rest of the way through the score was as close, first one side getting a basket and then the other. At the end of the last half, the score was tied 19-19, and an extra five-minute period had to be played to decide the winner. During this period, each team got a field basket, but a foul called on an Oneonta player spelled the locals' doom, and the game went to Hartwick, 22 to 21.

Roarback and Shimer starred for the seminary quintet, while Tamsell and Russell maintained the pace for the Olympics. The game was played before a large and enthusiastic crowd, and was preceded by a chicken pie supper, which put the fans in a happy mood.

The lineup of the two teams follows: Olympics—A. Palmer, rg.; Tamsell, lg.; Russell, c.; W. Palmer, rf.; H. Palmer, lf. Hartwick Seminary—Shimer, lg.; Brath, lf.; Joslyn, rf.; Roarback, c.; Haines, rf. Umpire—Crouse.

Codfish and Education.

Has New England, in these days of silk shirts and fur coats, become too proud and fastidious for honest and nutritious codfish balls? The sacred cod still swims aloft above the heads of our wise men assembled in the revered General court. It is no mean sign. It stands for those days of toilsome industry and frugal living, on which New England prosperity was founded. "The lone fishball" is a poetic work of creative genius illustrating the close relation between codfish and education. Fish was always reputed food for the brains. If we have not beyond codfish we deserve in our fat folly to be the prey of the gnomes and are entitled to no compensation from any one.—Salem News.

Alameda's Carry Jewelry.

Watches and jewelry are to be transported to Paris by a newly established postal service, and from Paris to London by the present commercial line to avoid the troublesome delays of the present rail service, says a correspondent writing from Geneva, Switzerland, in the Cincinnati Times-Star. A syndicate of the principal manufacturers has been formed at Cham de Fonds, the seat of the industry, to handle the air shipments. It is expected ten days will be saved by this method and the cost will be slight, in proportion to the value of the freight. Air shipments were decided upon largely because of American buyers' insistence upon prompt delivery.

MONEY FLURRY HITS MARKET WITH FORCE

Rise of Demand Loan Rate to 10 Per Cent, However, Is Believed To Be Temporary Only

New York, Oct. 22.—The stock market rose and fell modestly within a contracted area today, the aimless drift of prices and light dealings expressing the further indecision of traders in the absence of definite factors.

Gains predominated among the usual leaders, however, until the final half hour, when the rate for demand loans suddenly rose to 10 per cent, the maximum of the week, on the withdrawal of funds by local and interior banks.

Despite the late reaction a few stocks, such as Canadian Pacific, Utah Copper, Studebaker, Mexican Petroleum and United Fruit, registered net gains extending from one to six and a half points. Losses among the industrial leaders, notably steels, equipments and food specialties were limited to fractions.

Apart from the money flurry which seemed to be regarded as a temporary incident, most of the day's developments were of an encouraging character.

Usual leaders in the bond market were overshadowed by speculative interests by the new foreign quotations. Interborough issues lost some of their recent advance. Liberties were irregular and most other domestic bonds and industrials eased slightly. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

EVANSTON SOLVES PROBLEM

Houses School Classes and Teachers in Same Buildings.

The housing problem for schools and teachers of Evanston, Ill., is being partly solved by a recent action of the board of education in leasing houses near the school building and using the rooms on the lower floors for school rooms and renting those on upper floors to teachers for living rooms.

Two houses rented near one of their buildings provide eight new class rooms and will accommodate ten teachers. Another house accommodates five teachers, with the lower floor converted into an excellent kindergarten.

Still better is the proposition which will be submitted to the voters for providing a state bonus to the men and women who enlisted or were inducted into the military or naval service of the United States during the world war. What is proposed is to pay to each such enlisted man or woman a bonus of $10 for each month of service in either army or navy, the total payment to any one person being not to exceed $250. Conscientious objectors are not entitled to this bonus.

This bonus, which is for person or below the grade of captain in the army, or of or below the rank of lieutenant, senior grade, in the navy, will appeal to citizens generally as a just, proper and not too generous allotment. The pay of soldiers and sailors in the service during the world war was very moderate, and it is no more than right that to some slight extent at least recognition should be made of that spirit of loyal devotion which impelled them to give up safety at home and the opportunities for financial advancement which in war days were presented and to risk life and limb and all that was precious on the field of battle. The amount which is proposed to give is not large to the individual, and the greatest and wealthiest of states, following in the steps of sixteen others, the latest of them Maine, cannot afford to be less liberal than they.

Maine, to which reference is above made, voted three to one for this bonus. New York, it is to be hoped, will do even better than this. In fact, there should not be a voter in Oneonta, or in any city, village, town or county of the state to cast a ballot against the measure. It is in fact a proposition which appeals not only to a sense of patriotism but to the spirit of justice. The small sum which is provided does not approach that which would have been theirs had they stayed at home; and it should not be recorded that the Empire state, with its limitless resources, was not willing to recompense its soldiers and sailors in this small measure at least, for their services in saving the world.

THE FACULTY RECEPTION.

Dancing and Brief Entertainment Followed by Reception for 75 Couples.

The high school gymnasium was the scene of a merry social event last evening, when the faculty gave its annual reception to the student body and alumni. As this was the first social function of the winter season, there was a large attendance, about 75 young couples enjoying the entertainment of the evening. Music for dancing, which was usual as the chief diversion of the evening, was furnished by the jazzers in their capable manner.

During the intermission, a short but nevertheless praiseworthy program was given, consisting of a reading by Miss Susan Johnson and a soprano solo by Miss Josephine Lauren, both of which were greatly enjoyed. Following the program, members of the faculty served lemon sherbet.

All of the many couples present were delighted with the evening's enjoyment and wished for many more such happy occasions. A feature that was not overlooked was the beautiful decorations for the gymnasium. Autumn leaves and hallowe'en favors were tastefully arranged to present a very pleasing appearance to the eye.

Mrs. G. W. Anderson Given surprise.

Mrs. George W. Anderson, an active member of the Fidelity class of the Main Street Baptist church, was given a surprise yesterday afternoon at the meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. S. W. Parks, 2 Union street.

Following the program a business meeting was held. The afternoon was reported as being a very enjoyable one for all who attended.

Lyons and Moran.
"LA LA LUCILLE"
UNIVERSAL

It is rather hard to understand why Lee Moran and Ann Cornwall are so perturbed.

It doesn't seem that Eddie Lyons, his pal, and Gladys Walton are doing anything very terrible. Perhaps we are not in on the know.

But then, oh, terrible thought, maybe Eddie and Lee have their wares mixed * * * maybe Gladys belongs to Lee and dainty Ann to Eddie, or maybe * * * oh, what's the use. Let's see "La La Lucille" at the Oneonta Theatre and find out. Today 2:30-7-9.

CARTOON MUSICAL COMEDY.

A REPUBLICAN ESTIMATE.

"Kittenjammer Kids" at Oneonta Theatre Monday, Matinee and Night.

Kittenjammer Kids, the latest cartoon musical comedy to be produced under the direction of George M. Gars, comes to the Oneonta theatre matinee and night, Oct. 25, transposing the pictures to the stage of John P. Mulgrew, who wrote the book and lyrics, preserved all the funny characters whose antics have delighted thousands, young and old, and they are just as funny behind the footlights as in the colored supplements, with the added advantage of appearing in the flesh. Donald H. Bestor has provided a musical score that is said to contain many tuneful song hits, and the new musical play is said to be a delightful entertainment from start to finish. The producers have been lavish to the point of extravagance in making their production of "Kittenjammer Kids," the three acts being marveled of beauty and picturesqueness. And in the matter of the company they have spared no expense, the players being well known to the musical comedy stage. But it is in the chorus they point with particular pride, the girls being the prettiest galaxy to decorate a musical play in several seasons. Seat sale today at 10 a. m.

HOW TROLLEY RUMOR STARTED.

Officials of D. L. & W. in Richfield Looking Over Own Road.

There was a rumor current in Oneonta and all along the trolley line yesterday to the effect that the lines of the Southern New York Power and Railway corporation had been taken over by the D. L. & W. interests and that the line to Oneonta would be run in connection with the Lackawanna system. Inquiry at the general offices of the company brings positive contradiction of the rumor.

It appears that on Thursday the private car of the Lackawanna officials was in Richfield Springs, looking over the company's own line to that village. Members of the porch committee, who a little later in the season will be the box stove committee at the corner groceries, saw the car and furnished the rest.

Miss Sanford Leaves Hospital.

Miss Louise Sanford of Tenny, N. J., who was badly injured in the grade crossing accident which resulted in the death of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Woods of Delhi, and who had ever since been confined to the Fox Memorial hospital, was able to return to her home on Thursday. Her father, who during her stay in the hospital had come to Oneonta nearly every week to visit her, returned to Tenny with her in his motor car. Miss Sanford put up a plucky fight against great odds and citizens generally will rejoice that she now has recovered sufficiently to return to her home.

No Armistice Day Observance.

There was only a small number of members of the committee called to arrange for the observance of Armistice day, present at the Chamber of Commerce rooms last evening; and those in attendance reported that sentiment generally in the city was not such as seemed to justify action on their part. Accordingly, it is not likely that any further steps in this direction will be taken.

M'KINNEY ESCAPES.

MAN WANTED HERE FOR PART IN AUTO THEFTS BREAKS OUT OF JAIL AT PLATTSBURG WITH COMPANION.

Authorities Start Extensive Search, but Are Unable to Locate Convict — Local Police on Watch for Him — Had Been Indicted at Plattsburg for Theft of Car in That Vicinity, and Oneonta Police Were Waiting Opportunity to Prosecute Him for Part in Auto Stealing Here.

(Special to The Star)

Plattsburg, Oct. 22. — William McKinney, 20 years old, alleged Plattsburg representative of a gang of Oneonta auto thieves, and Ernest Provo, another alleged auto bandit, escaped from the Clinton county jail here this afternoon at about 4 o'clock. Both had been indicted by the grand jury here yesterday afternoon. McKinney for grand larceny in the first degree, and Provo for grand larceny in the second degree.

The two broke open a door leading from their cell into a new bathroom, hearing completion, from there they made their way into the outer corridor and up to the women's ward on the second floor, broke two iron bars from a window, and dropped to the ground, 15 feet below.

A dragnet was at once thrown about the countryside in an effort to locate the two prisoners, but up to an early hour this evening they had not been captured. Roads leading out of Plattsburg were covered by policemen, and immigration and custom officers along the Canadian border were notified in order to prevent the two men making their way into Canada. Every effort is being made to round up the two convicts, but the task is a difficult one, as there are numerous avenues of escape in this vicinity.

McKinney is wanted in Oneonta in connection with the auto theft plot which the police uncovered last August. It will be recalled that five men — Earl Thayer, Edwin Porter, Lewis Yager and William McKinney of Oneonta, and Lyman Houtling of Sidney — were accused of making up a gang that stole a dozen or more automobiles in Binghamton, Albany, Schenectady, Herkimer, and other cities. Houtling and Porter at last reports were still confined to the Herkimer county jail, awaiting the action of the next grand jury, while Thayer and Yager are also awaiting indictment in supreme court at Cooperstown, now in session.

McKinney was the only member of the gang whom the local police were unable to prosecute immediately. Officer Odell, with Deputy Sheriff Samman, went to Plattsburg late in August in the hope of bringing McKinney back with them, but the Plattsburg police had first "option" on him, he having been arrested on August 23 at Lake George for stealing a motor car belonging to Dr. S. Ryan of Plattsburg. It was for the theft of this car that McKinney was indicted, as stated in the above item. The Oneonta police had hoped to get hold of McKinney after the Plattsburg police were through with him, but now that he has escaped, the prospects are somewhat altered.

The local police first heard of McKinney's escape when shown a telegram received by The Star early last evening. They were surprised that they had not been notified of the incident by the Plattsburg police, but no notification was forthcoming from up north last evening. The local authorities will keep their eyes peeled for McKinney, nevertheless, and should he turn up at his old haunts here he will be placed under arrest.

McKinney is a native of Plattsburg, and consequently knows the ground, so he can make his escape more effectively and elude the pursuers. He came to Oneonta in 1919 and was a fireman on the Delaware and Hudson for several months, but took up auto stealing as a more profitable business. The Ernest Provo referred to in the Plattsburg item is not known here and is not connected with the operations of the Thayer-McKinney gang. He was brought to Plattsburg from Springfield, Mass., after stealing a car near the former place, and was indicted along with McKinney.

YOUNG LAD BADLY INJURED

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD EDWARD JOSLYN STRUCK BY SKIDDING AUTOMOBILE YESTERDAY.

Sufferers Compound Fracture of Right Thigh and of Left Leg, but Appear to be Holding Own — Stories Differ as to Speed of Car That Struck Boy, Which Was Driven by Mrs. O. W. Reed.

Struck a death-dealing blow by a skidding motor car yesterday morning, Edward Joslyn, the young son of Rice Joslyn, a D. & H. machinist, lies in a critical condition in the Fox Memorial hospital, with but an even chance of his recovery.

Edward, who is about eight years of age, was playing near his home at 9 Richmond avenue, West End, and was by the side of the Chestnut street road, just beyond the brick pavement, when the accident occurred at about 10:45 o'clock. Mrs. O. W. Reed of 2 Harmon avenue was driving her Dodge touring car toward West Oneonta and had turned out to pass a team of horses. As she started to turn back into the middle of the road, the rear wheels of the auto skidded on the slippery macadam and the auto swung about, striking the Joslyn boy a hard blow squarely, and felling him with a deafening effect.

As soon as she could bring her auto to a stop, Mrs. Reed ran back to the injured boy and with the aid of others at the scene carried him to his home nearby. Dr. E. J. Parish was immediately summoned and when he saw the serious condition the lad was in, he rushed him to the Fox hospital in Mrs. Reed's car.

An examination at the hospital by Drs. Parish and Cutler brought out that the boy had suffered a compound fracture of the right thigh and a compound fracture of the left leg below the knee. There was also a long gash on the right leg, and the cut was down to the artery. A bad scalp wound, and numerous bruises about the body. From this description, it may be realized that the lad is in a bad way, but reports from the hospital last night were to the effect that he was holding his own, with an even chance for his recovery. He did not lose consciousness following the accident and seems to be bearing it well.

Mrs. Reed reported the accident at police headquarters. She said that she was driving slowly at the time, but that the wet leaves on the road made it treacherous going, and when she swung back into the road after passing the wagon, she was unable to control the car.

Edwin Baldwin, who was driving the team, also called at headquarters to give his story of the accident. He said that in his judgment Mrs. Reed was driving her car at a speed of at least 30 miles an hour at the time the accident occurred, and he believed that if more caution had been exercised on the part of the driver the unfortunate accident might not have happened. He said the boy was well out of the road, but was nevertheless struck by the careening automobile.

Dr. Parish, after returning from the hospital, expressed the opinion that even if the Joslyn boy should recover he would be crippled for life. He seems to have recovered from the shock of the accident in a remarkable manner, but he is in a bad way as the result of his serious injuries and broken bones.

How Does This Strike You?

Oneonta little fellows now have over one and one half million dollars in first mortgages on improved real estate, the safest security known and earning six per cent compound interest. They work together to help each other; loan money to each other for homes and farms and divide all gains together, with no undue gain or advantage to any one man or clique of men. They have also had several million dollars handed back to them in previous years and several million more is now being rolled up for them. Uncle Sam and the state helps me to make all this possible and to give every man, woman and child in Oneonta and vicinity a fair chance and a square deal, yet some people can't see a hole in a ladder. Good day. I am the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan association on 11.

Season of Ghosts and Goblins Formally Opened Last Evening.

The Halloween season was opened in Oneonta last night with two social events that proved the old-time Halloween spirit is still with us and that ghosts and goblins still hold sway.

At the home of Mrs. M. G. Merrill, 25 Luther street, about 25 members of Autumn lodge, with their friends, gathered for a social evening. The event was not a masquerade, but nevertheless provided much amusement for those present. According to the merry makers, "cats" were the big thing of the evening; there were lots of them and they were good, too. The evening was passed in a social way and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Turpin's Famous Ride.

Dick Turpin, hero of many a romantic story, and one of the most outstanding figures in the history of English highwaymen, once made a ride that, for distance covered and speed maintained, has never been duplicated, as far as any record exists.

Turpin was in danger of capture, and capture meant death beyond question. He had beneath him a horse of unequalled speed and endurance, and before him an earthen path leading from London's cobble stones to York, a distance of 200 miles. "Spur was touched to the mare, since flamed in song and story as "Black Bess," and just as the sun was sinking to rest the highwayman and the eager mount took up the long trail.

The same sun rose 12 hours later over the houseposts of York, and the early-rising citizens who peered from shuttered windows saw a great black horse, dripping with sweat, eyes starting from his head and breath coming in gasps, thundering down the main street, while a dust-covered rider swayed in the saddle and made futile efforts to whip the travel stains from his gay costume. He had completed the distance in 12 hours, and without changing mounts.

"Tommy's" Talk French.

One detects the influence of the war in the village inns of England today, says a correspondent who has just returned from a walking tour.

The "lads of the village" are home again, and gather, as of yore, in the bar parlor to discuss the events of the day; but there is a marked difference in their vocabulary.

For they remember the estaminets of France and the language talked therein. "Encore de biere" has become the formula for repeating an order, and "fil" has taken its place among the recognized methods of intimating refusal to drink again. — London Chronicle.

Such Is Life in the City.

Noticing that a young woman walking along the street ahead of her had dropped a purse, a Milwaukee woman called to her and when the young woman turned around was amazed to find it was her sister, whom she had not seen for fourteen years and for whom she had long been searching. She took her sister back home with her, and as they reached the flat the young woman said: "Why, I have lived for a year within a block and a half of here."
